

Venues designed to create

RIBA at 66 Portland Place

Located in central London, RIBA at 66 Portland Place is the perfect location for filming and photoshoots, with ample space to accommodate cast and crew. Our Grade II* Art Deco building represents the best of British architecture and is, in places, almost untouched since 1934 making it perfect for mid-century modern inspired filming and photoshoots.

Spaces

- > The Florence Hall is an expansive light-filled space featuring stunning floor to ceiling windows, etched glass doors, carved stone and a patterned floor. Its unique architectural detailing makes it a popular choice for shoots.
- > The RIBA Gallery is a striking, modern space with natural daylight. The simple décor makes this blank canvas space easy to dress to create the desired backdrop.
- > The venue features a double height entrance hall with a showstopping marble staircase, Art Deco detailing and a triple height atrium

Exclusivity & Availability

- > Take over the entire venue exclusively and securely with access to all spaces and flexibility to dress the location as required.

Style

- > Art Deco detailing
- > Grand entrance lobby
- > Sweeping marble staircase
- > Triple-height atrium
- > Three terraces
- > Historic library
- > Wood-pannelled boardrooms

Contact our team today by emailing venues@riba.org to discuss pricing & hiring.
Architecture.com/RIBAVenues

RIBA
Architecture.com